

A home above the Tagus is found by buyers who are already looking abroad.

MARKETING STRATEGY

Parque das Nações, Lisbon, Portugal

PREPARED SEPTEMBER 2026

Lisbon is bought from somewhere else.

Your home is not advertised everywhere. It is advertised where it matters. A four-bedroom penthouse inside a private gated complex at Parque das Nações — 416 square metres of living area, more than 200 square metres of terrace, floor-to-ceiling glass along the skyline and the river — is bought by a particular kind of buyer. At this level Lisbon is not a local market. The person who pays €4,500,000 for light, a terrace and a view of the Tagus is very often deciding from another country, and weighing Lisbon against other cities rather than against other Lisbon addresses. The campaign is built in two parts for that reason: one inside Portugal, and one for the cities abroad that send buyers to Lisbon.

TWO AUDIENCES

One campaign inside Portugal, one for buyers deciding from abroad.

CHOSEN MARKETS

Six markets, chosen for where buyers at this level actually come from.

TAILORED CREATIVE

Six advertisements built for this home, in six shapes, for every screen.

REPORTED TO YOU

A full account of where your home appeared and how buyers responded.

ADVERTISEMENTS

DAYS

Over thirty days your home will be advertised in six markets — Portugal, and five cities across Europe and North America. Six advertisements have been built for it, in six shapes, each a slow film of the terraces, the social area and the view across the Tagus, ending on an invitation to arrange a viewing.

ONE FIGURE TO FOLLOW

The plan set out here is settled. The one figure still to come is the number of impressions — the number of times your home is put in front of someone — which is confirmed once the campaign is under way.

IMPRESSIONS

To be confirmed

In Portugal, and beyond it.

PARQUE DAS NAÇÕES, LISBON · €4,500,000

The two run side by side, over the same thirty days, as a single effort. One reaches buyers already living in Portugal; the other reaches those considering Lisbon from abroad. They do not overlap, so the same buyer is not shown your home twice.

The right buyers live in the right places.

The Portugal campaign runs nationwide, with its weight in the Área Metropolitana de Lisboa: the buyer who already knows Parque das Nações — the riverside parish rebuilt for Expo '98 — needs no introduction to it. The second campaign goes to five cities abroad. London and Paris hold Europe's largest concentrations of internationally mobile buyers, and both are inside three hours of Lisbon by direct flight. Zurich adds a small, dense pool of Swiss and German-speaking buyers long familiar with the Portuguese coast. New York and Toronto are North America's two strongest links to the city — both fly to Lisbon non-stop the year round, and both hold large, long-established Portuguese communities. Together they cover the people choosing Lisbon itself, rather than choosing between Lisbon addresses.

The work, as buyers will see it.

Six advertisements, in six shapes, built for the computer, the tablet and the telephone. Each moves slowly across photographs of the home over fifteen seconds — the building, the social area, the kitchen and the view across the Tagus — then closes on an invitation to arrange a viewing. The price is not shown, as is our practice.

In the order it will happen.

Nothing here waits on a decision from you. The advertisements are built and the markets are chosen; what follows is the sequence from here to the report that reaches you at the end.
